After Pontius Pilate had condemned Jesus to death, three crosses were set up at a place called Golgotha. The soldiers fixed Jesus to the cross with nails, and on the other crosses were two thieves who jeered at him.

Jesus had been hanging on the cross in the sun all the morning, and at mid-day darkness came over the whole land and lasted for three hours. In the middle of the afternoon Jesus gave a loud cry and died. The earth shook as though there had been an earthquake and the centurion who was guarding Jesus said "Surely this man was the Son of God."
